A Letter from the Alumni President

Brothers,

I want to thank all of you who have given and who plan to give to the annual fund this year. Many alumni have increased their usual contribution to provide support to the front-lawn project, and this helped immensely. I am pleased to report that the project was completed over the summer, and we were able to pick the option that got the work we needed finished all at once. We were able to fix the French-drain issue, replace the railroad ties along the parking lot, level the entire front lawn, put up a retaining wall, and replace the sidewalks leading up to the house. This completed the last significant project that was planned following the renovation. Now that it is done, the property looks much nicer!

The chapter hosted a nice homecoming event. It was good to see the alumni who made it back this year, and I hope that everyone had an enjoyable time. All those

Alumni Spotlight: Eta Brothers' European Vacation

Brotherhood knows no borders. Eta alumni Jason Fitterer '07, BJ Jacobson '09, Paul Torres '09, Brian Radzicki '10, and Sean Barenbrugge '10 proved this on a recent trip across Europe in August.

The group traveled from Chicago and San Francisco to meet at their first stop, Prague, Czech Republic. Over three days of sightseeing, the alums shot crossbows in Prague Castle, took an unofficial tour of the national library, visited Vyšehrad, a 10th-century walled fortress, and wandered the winding cobblestone streets. Through the magic of social media, BJ discovered that recent graduates Alex Aspell '16 and Joey Lagoni '16 were also in Prague on their own travels in Europe. The seven Eta alumni met up and enjoyed the various nightlife spots Prague had to offer.

The next stop on the journey took the group to Leipzig, Germany. The city maintains a host of historical sites: most notably, St. Thomas Church, where Johann Sebastian Bach worked as musical director, and a massive stone monument memorializing Napoleon's defeat at the Battle of Nations. The five Etas also visited the Grassi Museum, which houses a fantastic exhibit on musical instruments.

From Leipzig, Paul and BJ split off to visit BJ's extended family in small-town Geissen, Germany, for two days. The two then met back up with the other three in Berlin. Highlights included a visit to the Olympic stadium, a tour of Cold War-era underground bomb shelters, and a bike tour that covered a host of landmarks, including existing sections of the Berlin Wall, Checkpoint Charlie, the Reichstag building, and Tiergarten Park.

The last stop on the adventure was Amsterdam. The nearly two weeks of travel did not stop the group from packing in full days of exploring the city's picturesque canals and beautiful parks. Biking is one of the main modes of transportation for locals, so the group took

From the Consul

Eta Chapter has maintained a robust membership of gentlemen, initiating 11 new members in the fall of 2016, a rush that brought forth the highest turnouts at events in recent history. The effort put forth by the brotherhood in recruiting new members is reflected in the scholastic mindset and honorable characters of its new recruits.

During fall rush, the brothers and potential recruits conversed and bonded over barbecue and cornhole. Eta Chapter's strive for excellence is not limited to recruitment; this past fall semester, the members of the chapter raised over $804 for the McDonough B+ Foundation, a charitable foundation that provides financial and emotional support to families of children with cancer. This donation was raised at the chapter's semi-annual philanthropy dinner. Eta Chapter also held a fundraiser at the Chipotle on the U of I campus, which raised an additional $267.58. This brought the chapter total to $1071.58 for the B+ Foundation, an unprecedented philanthropic success for Eta gentlemen and a worthy contribution to aid those battling cancer.

Our chapter has seen incredible growth, both in the quantity and the character of its individual members, and we strive to continue to foster brotherhood and to make honorable contributions to the society at large.

Fraternally,

Joshua Cohen

What kind of projects have you worked on at the house?

Within a semester of being in the house, my pledge brothers and I built a KΔP dice table—a Middlebury blue and Princeton orange table for the game of dice, a house favorite. This semester, my pledge brother Mackle Berg and I are working on KΔP wooden letters for the house. We hope to hang them up soon.

What do you enjoy most about working with environmental sciences?

My passion is for sustainability and love for the outdoors! My love for the environment did not grow until I attended the Chicago High School for Agricultural Sciences. It showed me the plethora of opportunities that working with Mother Nature can bring. Now that I am enrolled at the University of Illinois, I'm in the heat of discovering and utilizing all the work and research that Illinois can offer, such as working with water resources, testing for fertilizer runoff in nearby rivers, or testing multiple plant viruses and what they infect. Currently, I am in the process of interviewing for a logistics job in California that deals with the supply and demand of basic produce, such as carrots and potatoes—fingers crossed!

How did you get involved in the cycling club?

Over the summer, I stayed in Champaign for water-resources research. During that time, I bought an old 1970s Schwinn road bike. I loved riding her so much that I decided to take advantage of this! Quad day, a day dedicated to advertising the local clubs on campus, rolled around, and I signed up for the club. Now, we meet every Wednesday in the English building and have rides almost every day. Nothing feels more relaxing than speeding down the old roads of Champaign County.

Outside of school, what do you do for fun?

When I am not at school, work, or working out, I am taking it easy at the house with the boys, playing catch on our lawn, shooting pool, or watching movies.

Editor's Note: Representing the chapter in the Spotlight is Sean Tobin. Sean is a legacy and comes to us from the South Side of Chicago. A sophomore, he is already active with the chapter and serves as excitement chair. Sean stays busy working part-time at Joe's Brewery as a fry cook, and with the Illini Cycling club. He is pursuing a degree in environmental sciences, with a minor in geology, and has already put his knowledge to use by working with the Natural Resources and Environmental Sciences Department. Outside of school, he enjoys working on his bike and making improvements around the Eta Chapter house.

Taylor H. Bell '62 – I stopped going to Homecoming when Illinois started to schedule Ball State. I still remember when I was living in Champaign after graduating, working for the Champaign-Urbana Courier and covering an Illinois football team that featured Dick Butkus, Jim Grabowski, and a dozen other players who were drafted into the NFL. KDP brother Sammy Rebecca '52 used to come to the fraternity house and talk about kicking the field goal that put Illinois in the 1952 Rose Bowl. Everybody had to sleep in an open fresh-air dorm, and we had a full-time cook to make every meal except Sunday night's. Plus, Caesar, our mascot, was the biggest and most visible dog on campus. However, we never had 85 guys in the house!

Theodore W. Bayler '50 – Retired. Birth of a great-grandchild. Not likely a KDP recruit however; she is a girl.

John F. Wood '50 – Retired engineer (electronics manufacturing), USCG 200-ton captain, inventor, home builder, beach bum.

who returned couldn't help but notice the ongoing changes on campus. The six-pack dorms continue to be torn down and replaced two buildings at a time. Our neighbors, Lambda Chi Alpha, have torn down their house and are building a new one. As you look around campus, it is amazing to see 20-story apartment buildings full of high-end apartments. The house corporation is aware of our changing environment and is continually evaluating our best options as we look toward the future.

As the year comes to a close, I want to wish everyone a wonderful holiday season, an enjoyable time with family and friends, and all the best in the coming year!
